Real Property Administrator (RPA®) Designation

Education for those who manage real estate assets. In this program, you will learn all aspects of operating a commercial building and maximizing a building's net income while minimizing risk. An RPA brings a full understanding of all aspects of property management to an employer in the commercial real estate industry or to a building owner. The overall goal is to enhance the value of the asset through proper and strategic decision making.

Facilities Management Administrator (FMA®) Designation

Education for those responsible for making sure a facility runs smoothly by creating a safe and productive workplace for a company and by taking care of tenant issues such as comfort, safety, daily operations, and maintenance. Learn how to manage facilities in a way that best supports staff and fits into your organization's overall objectives. From planning and project management to environmental health and worker safety, this program also provides the information needed to minimize maintenance costs and properly manage other timely issues.
