Your organization may unknowingly be headed toward a corporate graveyard of companies that failed to adapt. According to Forbes, nearly three out of four of the Fortune 1000 have been replaced in the last 10 years. In the next decade, more than half the Fortune 500 will no longer exist. Unprecedented disruption has created a new world of work driven by technology and an increasingly liquid workforce. The future will belong to those who can embrace uncertainty, turn disruption into opportunity, and take action to transform. Organizations may not realize that they already have access to a critical element of transformation: their workplace. In today's world of constant flux, a strategically designed workplace can help organizations future-proof for an increasingly volatile competitive environment.

Julia Georgules, Senior Vice President, Director of Research, JLL, will provide valuable insight into how workplaces can drive enhanced business performance by better enabling an organization's largest investment: their talent.
